FAQs

Below are the main questions about the project. If you have more questions do not hesitate to contact us.

Can I deploy this on my own GitLab?

Yes, the framework is designed to be versatile and adaptable to various setups, including your own GitLab instance.

What if I need more help initially?

We understand that starting with a new system can be challenging. Therefore, we will offer a specific number of pro bono working hours for each project to ensure you can experience the benefits of the new setup as soon as possible.

Do I get this automatically if I have a FLOSS project?

Currently, we are prioritizing smaller projects with limited resources but significant impact. We have a list of projects we feel close to and believe would greatly benefit from this support. We would love to support as many projects as possible, but at the same time be realistic about what a small team like ours can offer at this stage.
